

Monica Trigo

mactrigoso@gmail.com

210-836-4411

<https://www.linkedin.com/in/mtrigo/>

Highly motivated senior-level college student in Computer Science and Software Development. Experienced with team settings with reliable interpersonal skills. A fast and attentive learner with a strong desire to apply my knowledge to future projects.

Skills

- Motivating, collaborative, and engaging in team settings.
- Organized, observant, and comfortable multitasking.
- Intermediate experience with html, JS, CSS, Python, Java, and SQL.

Education

Bachelor of Science (Software Development) / DePaul University, Chicago, IL

EXPECTED GRADUATION: MARCH 2022

- Relevant Coursework: Data Structures I & II, Oracle Database, Object Oriented Programming, Design & Analysis of Algorithms
- Double minor in Data Science and Audio Engineering

Experience

2020 - CURRENT

Supplemental Instructor / DePaul University School of Computing and Digital Media

- Host collaborative review sessions to support students in historically difficult courses within DPU's Computer Science program.
- Creating lesson plans and study materials for students who attend review sessions.

Academic Involvement

2019 - CURRENT

Organizer / DemonHacks Annual Hackathon

- Coordinated and moderated events, providing aid and necessary resources to participants.

SEPTEMBER 2020

Student Representative / DePaul University School of Computing and Digital Media

- Compiled and analyzed data relevant to the tenure and promotional process for a designated professor within DePaul University's School for Computing and Digital Media.
- Authored a comprehensive report detailing findings across all courses taught by the professor in the past 6 years.

Extracurriculars

- Hack Illinois Open Source Fellowship Program / FEBRUARY 2021
- Member of the DePaul Computer Science Society / 2019 - CURRENT